BRIEF REPORT

On the 13th of October, MLRITM orchestrated a dynamic field visit under the banner of "Exposure and Field Visit for Problem Identification," presenting participants with an immersive opportunity to engage directly with real-world scenarios. Spearheaded by the insightful guidance of Mr. B. Prasad, both students and faculty were encouraged to explore diverse environments, meticulously identifying prevalent challenges and collaboratively brainstorming potential solutions.

The event, propelled by the robust initiatives of the IIC at Level 3, garnered significant interest, drawing in a substantial turnout of 140 students and 20 faculty members. This enthusiastic participation underscored the institution's unwavering dedication to fostering hands-on, experiential learning experiences that transcend traditional classroom boundaries.

Under the visionary stewardship of Dr. G. Amarnath as the convener and seamlessly coordinated by Mr. B. Prasad, the event served as a transformative learning journey for all participants. By immersing themselves in real-world challenges, attendees gained not only theoretical knowledge but also invaluable practical insights and skills crucial for addressing complex issues in their future endeavors. The event's culmination marked a significant milestone in participants' educational journey, equipping them with a profound understanding of the intricacies of real-world challenges and empowering them to tackle them head-on with confidence and competence.
